Subject: Your article with Taylor & Francis

Body:

Dear Author First Name Last Name,

Re: Article Title; Journal Title

Congratulations on the recent acceptance of your manuscript submission to Journal Title. The Taylor & Francis production team will work with you to publish your article online as quickly as possible.

We would like to let you know that your institution has an open access agreement with Taylor & Francis, which means you may be eligible for funding to publish your article open access. We have let them know that your paper has been accepted and shared your article information, including your email address.

What happens next?

It's important to know that not all articles will be eligible for funding under this agreement, so please click here to view the latest information.

If your institution approves open access funding for your article, we will let you know. You may also request approval by selecting the open access option.

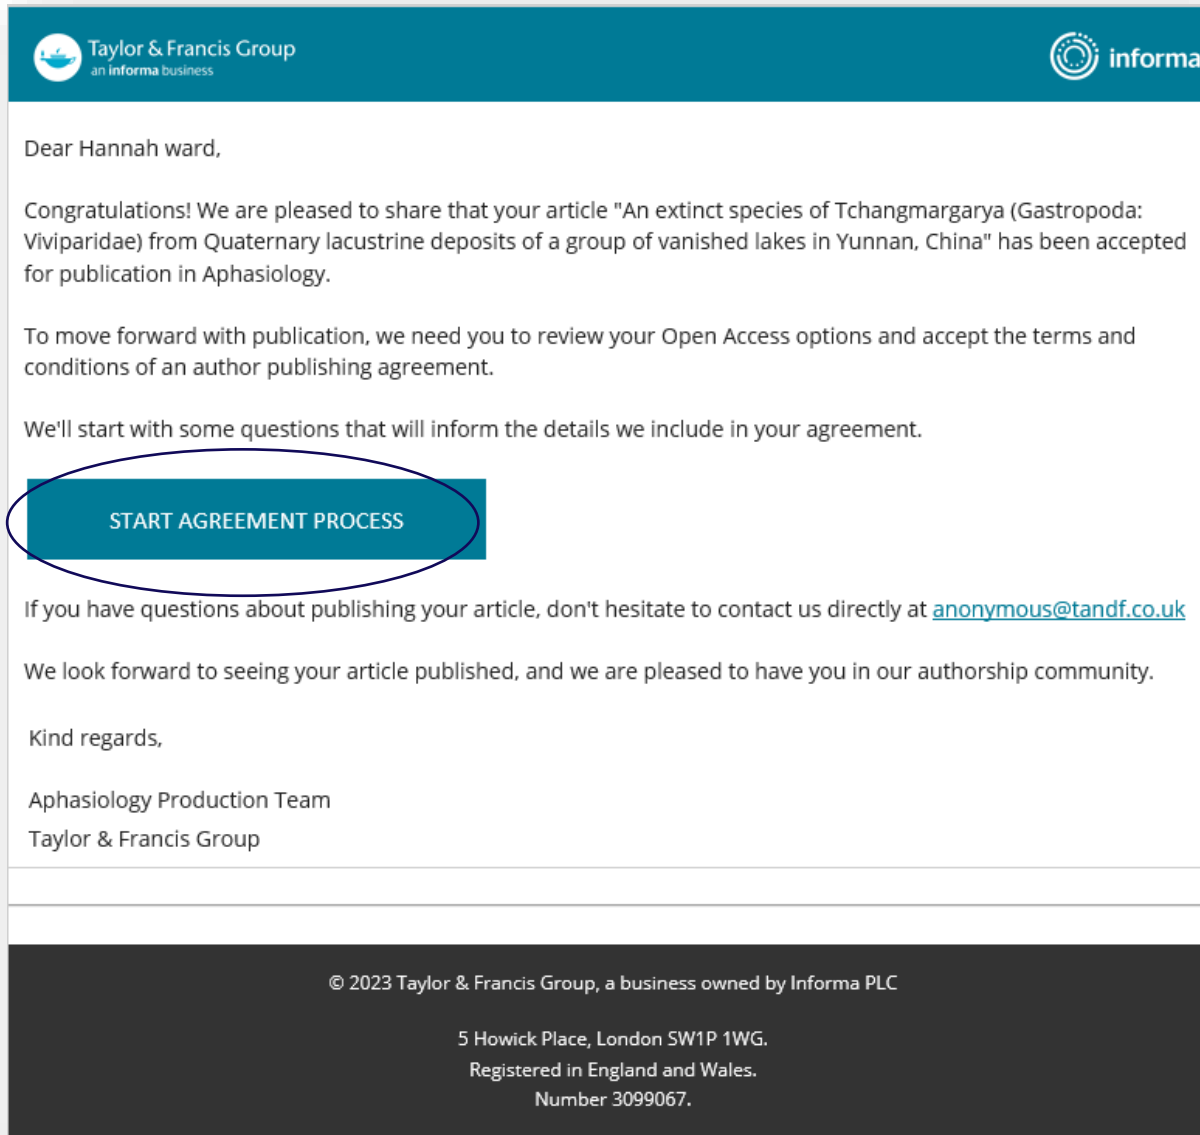

Look out for an email inviting you to select and sign your article publishing agreement.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact apc@tandf.co.uk, or your librarian.

Choose Open Access

Your organization has an Open Access agreement with us and would like you to use this funding. This is a standard process with no cost to your organization. If your organization is unable to approve, you will have the opportunity to publish with a standard license agreement, or choose to fund the Open Access publication yourself.

Confirm who owns your article's copyright

We need to know who owns the copyright of your article so that we can accurately reflect that ownership in your authorship agreement.

Many times, scholars working on original research own the copyright for their written works, but not always. If you produced this article as work-for-hire or as a government employee, for example, you may not own the copyright.

Please tell us about the copyright ownership of your article. ?

- I own copyright. If I have co-authors, we jointly own copyright and I am acting on our behalf.
- I am an employee of the UK, Canadian, Australian, or other Commonwealth Realm Government, and the Crown retains and asserts copyright. ?
- I am a US Government (including NIH) employee and there is no copyright to transfer. ?
- I am a contractor of the US Government (includes NIH contractors). ?
- I am an employee of the European Commission and copyright is asserted and retained by the European Union. ?
- I am employed and the copyright belongs to my employer (or is a 'work made for hire'). ?
- I am an employee of a Government, Agency, or International Organization and copyright is retained by that entity. ?

PREVIOUS

NEXT

When determining the copyright ownership of an article, please use the following check list:

- I have not published my Article previously.
- I have not submitted my Article to another Journal, and I confirm that it is not under consideration by any other journal.
- I intend to publish the Article exclusively with Taylor & Francis.
- I am only claiming Crown Copyright if I or one of my co-Authors is a Minister or civil servant.
- I am only claiming U.S. Government non-Copyrightable Status if I or one of my co-Authors is an officer or employee of the Federal Government of the United States of America.
- If I or one of my colleagues is a National Institutes of Health (NIH) employee, I have selected the "US Government employee" option.
- If I or one of my colleagues is a contractor of the U.S. Government (including NIH contractors), I have selected the "contractor of the US government" option.
- I understand that if I am working in a university as a researcher/lecturer but am grant funded and am submitting this work as part of my normal research, my work does not qualify as a "work for hire".

You have two options of agreement for Open Select publishing with Taylor & Francis/Routledge.

- Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs (CC BY-NC-ND): Under this license others may download your works and share them with others as long as they credit you, but they can't change them in any way or use them commercially. The License also allows for text- and data-mining of your works. This license is offered to authors publishing on an open-access basis in an Open Select journal.
- Creative Commons Attribution (CC BY): Others may distribute, remix, tweak, and build upon your work, even commercially, as long as they credit you for the original creation. This license is required by certain funding bodies. The author is asked to grant Taylor & Francis the right to publish her or his article as the final, definitive, and citable Version of Scholarly Record. Reuse conditions will be subject to the license type chosen by the author.
